OVATION TO CYRUS W. FIELD.

Grand Reception at Great Barrington, Mass.

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS, SPEECHES, &C.

GREAT BARRINGEON, Thursday, Aug. 26. This has been a great day here. The occasion was the reception of welcome of CYRUS W. FIELD Esq., the world-renowned parent of the Atlantic Telegraph Cable scheme, which has been so successfully completed. Little time had been given for preparation, and there was more heart in the demonstration than sought to show itself in display.

A dispatch had been received from Mr. FIELD on Tuesday, stating that he would arrive with Captain HUDSON, of the Niagara, Mr. AROHIBALD, British Consul at New York, and Mr. Everert, the Engineer of the Atlantic Caple Company. Captain Hupson, however, did not come.

At 2 o'clock a gun from Mount Peter announced that the train bearing Mr. FIELD and his friends was in sight. At that moment the platform at the station neighborhood and the entire was crowded with people to witness the reception. Mr. FIELD's father, the Rev. Dr. FIELD, of Stockbridge, and his wife and four of his children, also his brother, Dydley D. FIELD, Esq., President Hop. KINS, of Williams' College, GEO. R. IVES. ESq., DAVID LEAVITT, SHELDEN LEAVITT, HON. J. Z. GOODRICH and all the principal citizens of Barrington and the sur rounding towns were present. As Mr. FIELD stepped off the train, three rousing cheers were given for him, and the Lee Cornet Band played "Hail to the Chief." A long line of carriages made up a procession, which escorted Mr. FIELD to the Parsonage, the beautiful country seat of GEO. R. IVES. Esq., High Sheriff Roor, of Berkshire County, acting as Marshal. Here a halt was made, and the party enjoyed the liberal hospitality of Mr. Ives and spent a pleasant half hour, during which Mr. FIELD received many of his old and a host of new friends.

patch I have receivee to-day from London. It is as follows:

NEW YORK, Thursday, Aug. 26.

CYRUS W. FIELD, Great Barrington.

A dispatch just received from London states that peace has been concluded with China on the terms of the Allies. Very favorable news from India. The London Times contains Mr. BRIGHT's full report of the laying of the Atlantic Cable from the Agameinnon.

When Mr. FIELD had concluded the reading of this dispatch he was greeted with loud and long-continued cheering, and it was some time before he could continue his remarks. When the excitement had in some measure died away, he said : " This is a most gratifying message from the Old World to the New, and I hope that the cable which has forwarded this message will remain forever and ever to bear the mesages of "Peace on earth and Good Will towards men." [Loud cheering.] Let me say in conclusion, that the good Old Commonwealth of Massachusetts has no reason for shame in connection with the laving of the Atlantic Cable. The largest subscription towards it in Europe, was received from a native of the Old Bay State,-I allude to GEORGE PEABODY. Esq., of London,-and there is yet another whose patronage has been a matter of pride to the promoters of the scheme.

I refer to Mr. MOBGAN, one of the Directors of the Company, who has done move than any man of the Beard Mr. LAMPSON, of London, has also his right to a liberal share of your congratulatory feelings. Ladies and Gentlemen, will you allow me to retire, first returning you my sincere thanks for your unexpected kindness, bidding you, with God's blessing, good hight,

Mr. Firld then sat down, and the hall rung again with the warm and earnest applause of his friends.

After speeches from many other distinguished gen. tlamen, the assemblage, at a late hour, dispersed.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Movements of Hon. Pierre Soule-General Walker and Central American Affaira-Mr. Soule's Opinion of Illinois Politics, &cc

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Aug. 26 The Hon. PIERRE SOULE reached here this morning from the South, en route for New-York, where, it is understood, he is to have an interview

Mr. EVERETT shared also in the hearty congratulations of the men of Old Berkshire.

The Company then took their way to Brookside. the princely country seat of DAVID LEAVITT, Esq., where they had dinner. Just before sitting down table Mr. FIELD received and announced to contents of a the dispatch London from to day's date, announcing the of close of the war with China. This happy exemplification of the benefit of the great undertaking which Mr. FIELD had so gloriously consummated, yielded general gratification to himself as well to everypody else present.

Shortly after dinner the party took carriages and proceeded to the parsonage and thence to Agricultural Hall, a large building in the close vicinity belonging to the Housatonic Agricultural Society, to which they had a large escort, where a formal meeting was to take place at 6% o'clock, and where the people of the neighborhood had already proceeded in procession.

The Hall was filled to overflowing. The chair was taken by DAVID LEAVITT, Esq., who was supported by the old friends and neighbors of Mr. FIELD.

Messrs. GEORGE R. IVES and A. G. WHITON, the Committee of Arrangements, read sundry letters and dispatches.

The first dispatch read was from Captain Hupson, of the Niagara, saying "It is impossible for me to visit Great Barrington on Thursday next. The officers are to go on leave of absence, the crew are to be paid off, and the ship is to be put out of commission, which I very much regret, but cannot alter." Gov. BANKS telegraphed as follows: "Official duties at Salem alone prevent my joining you In the reception of Mr. FIELD on Thursday. No son of Massachusetts has conferred more signal honor or service upon his native State." WILSON G. HUNT, Esq., of New-York, also excused himself, in a dispatch, saying "that the gentlemen whom he had been invited to meet had gained them. selves immortal honor, and had thrown out a galaxy of bright stars that would illuminate their country for all time to come." A large number of letters and dispatches from other eminent gentlemen were then read, when the Chairman, in a brief but well-conceived speech, introduced the business of the occasion, and called upon the Hon. INCREASE SUMMER to express the sentiments of the old, warm-hearted and exultant friends and neighbors of Mr. FIELD towards him in this his time of triumph and honor. HON. INCREASE SUMMER, in his welcoming speech. said in substance, that the heart of this great Republic-he might add of the whole world-was thrilled with rapture because of the achievement mainly attributable to Mr. FIELD. By his forecast and heroic energy and perseverance space had been almost annihilatad between the Old and the New Worlds. The hearts of the people of the Eastern and the Western Continents beat as under one pulsation and with kindred and parental feelings for this sublime moral triumph, which the world, under Providence, was mainly indebted to Mr. FIELD; its results no man could estimate, but they would be mighty for peace and for good, and as they displayed themselves, the names of their originators would become brighter and brighter on the record of the future, and continue to shine, while the glories of the heroes whose laurels are sprinkled with blood, would fade and be forgotten; comparing Mr. FIELD with such benefactors of the human race as CALMUS. EPERMICUS, GALLILEO, COLUMBUS, BACON, NEWTON, FRANKLIN and WASHINGTON. Mr. SUMNER said that the tongue of praise never became weary, nor did honest adulation become excessive; for whatever amount of praise was given, a vast space was still left for an additional measure; oratory, poetry, minstrelsy, painting and scripture might lend all their mightiest effects, still the desert of those great benefactors of humanity would be but feebly requited, on the roll of such great names that of CYRUS W. FIELD was now legibly inscribed, and it would remain and glow there forever. In behalf of those assembled, Mr. SUMNER then tendered Mr. FILLD the tribute which was due to true great. ness alone, not forgetting at the same time the noble and dauntless men whose name was interlinked with his enterprise so happily completed. Introducing Mr. FILLD to the meeting, Mr. SUMNER said : The native boy of our sister town of Stockbridge stands before you, the foremost man of the world, for he has combined all existing discoveries relating to the working of electricity, and through the hidden recesses of the wide ocean made them subservient to human benefit, producing the grand result : "Glory to God in the highest; peace and good will towards men." Mr. FIELD was received with loud and protracted cheers. Mr. FIELD spoke in reply as follows: Ladies and gentlemen, you can better imagine my feelings than I can describe them. I certainly did not for a moment imagine that I should have such a reception from you, the warm-hearted people of good old Berkshire, the friends of my youth. I hud thought that probably some 50 or 100 of my old neighbors would have been present to greet me, but 1 had no idea of the extent of this demonstration I am indeed grateful, but let me say, without any disparagement of your kindly feelings, that it is not alone on account of any merit of mine you have come here, but because under Providence I have contributed merely my share in the great accomplishment, the future benefits of which have been elequently alluded to by my friend, Mr. SO. I beg, my friends that you will SUMNER. not forget the deserts of Captain Hupson, of the Niagara, and the brave officers and sailors of that ship, who have done so much for the successful completion of our great international communication. I pray you not to forget your assignment of credit to my friend near me, who has done so much and everything so well in the perfection of the machinery by which the Atlantic Cable was laid-I allude to my friend Mr, EVERETT, one of the Engineers of the Atlantic Telegraph Company. (Loud and en-Ladies and gentlemen, it thusiastic cheers] my forte to not ÌSmake speeches, and besides that you are aware that there are other gentlemen present who can satisfy you much better in that respect than I. But it gives me pleasure to inform you that the first message that has come over the Atlantic Cable to Old Berkshire has been one of peace. With your permission I will read you a dis-with General WM. WALKER touching Central American affairs. He will remain here only a short time, to feel the pulse of the Administration. It is believed by those who have some means of information that Gen. WALKER has his eye now upon Yucatan, with a view to an eventual descent upon Cuba. Mr. Sours spent several days at Old Point Comfort, and, I learn, whilst there, was in close communion with the Hon. A. DUDLEY MANN, He also had an interview with Ex-President Tyles.

Mr. Soule expresses the confident opinion that the Democracy can alone succeed in 1860, with Senator DOUGLAS as their nomince for the Presidency, and that there is but one opinion in his State as to the course of the Waashington Union. He says while the Democracy of Louisiana condemn the unnatural war upon Judge DougLAS, they regard the editorials of the Union as tending to secure his election in 11lineis and his nomination at Charleston. Mr. HILGARD, of the United States Coast Survey, left in the Niagara, on Wednesday, for Trinity Bay, in order to make preparations for a more accurate determination of the comparative longitudes of the stations on the opposite shores of the Atlantic. The high mathematical attainments and habits of close and accurate observation of this gentleman eminently qualify him for this important duty. Considerable time must necessarily elapse, after the preparations are made, before the observations can be completed and the results computed.
